DETAILED ACTION

1. A substitute specification in proper idiomatic English and in compliance with 37 CFR 1.52(a) and (b) is required. The substitute specification filed must be accompanied by a statement that it contains no new matter.
2. 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, requires the specification to be written in "full, clear, concise, and exact terms." The specification is replete with terms which are not clear, concise and exact. The specification should be revised carefully in order to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. Examples of some unclear, inexact or verbose terms used in the specification are: improper grammatical English is used throughout the specification.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 1-10 are objected to because of the following informalities: The claims are written in improper grammatical English, are difficult to decipher and are in improper form. Appropriate correction is required.
4. As best understood the following rejection is being made.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 2875

5. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Roitman et al (6,552,488).

6. Roitman discloses a sealing means for an electroluminescent lighting device comprising a protective layer. The sealing is done by different methods (col. 6 lines 1-67, col. 8 lines 21-46), the plastic sealing for the EL device is a sheet and has a desired thickness, the chemicals used for sealing the EL device are found in cols. 5,7,8).

Double Patenting

7. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 8-10 provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4,7,10 and 17 of copending Application No. 10/286,871. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because Claims 8-10 of the instant invention, although not stated exactly the same, disclose the EL element twisted around a central device which delivers a predetermined electrical signal from one end to the other and is connected to the electrodes of the EL element, a receptacle means for the EL element as recited in the '874 application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
